

...false promises of a "movie" career. In this connection it is recalled that friends and admirers have often remarked upon the "gorgeous" and abundant auburn hair of the Reeves girl—told her what a "wonderful bit" her hair would make in the moving pictures.

And so stories of luring adventures inserted by vicious men—white players sometimes—have been running through the frenzied mother's mind for four days—thoughts which last night wore out their nerves, prostrated them, and placed them in a dangerous condition under the care of physicians.

"These were not girls who would masquerade as boys and seek adventure on 'the open road'; what has become of them?" was the question frequently heard.

Davis Girl's Wandering.

The Davis girl was first seen just west of Franklin Park last Tuesday morning by George Boone, a farmer, as he was driving along the road. A few hours earlier—just before daylight—her father's automobile had been found by the Maywood police abandoned and out of gasoline at Madison and Fifth avenue.

The policeman who found the car fancied he saw the shadowy figure of a man dart away from the car and into an alley, but this has never been verified, and the police now believe that the girl went away alone.

Boose stopped her and asked her where she lived. She pointed vaguely back to Franklin Park. Then she walked out westward. Farther along the road between the Mannheim and Elmhurst roads, at least seven farmer folk saw the girl and were sure it was Margaret.

Robert Martin, a mail carrier, saw her twice last Tuesday outside of Bensenville. He saw her first in her girl's clothes, and later in the khaki and blue shirt and canvas leggings boys outfit she had purchased in the town.

RUNAWAY BOYS RETURN

Lee Harrison, Byron Field, and William Gash, all 16 years old and students of the New Trier High school, who left home last Friday evening, announcing their intention of going to Canada or St. Louis because they were tired of school, returned last night.

Each of the youths kept his parents informed daily of his progress and whereabouts, and have been termed "the model runaway boys." They abandoned the trip, they said, because the weather turned unexpectedly cold.

SEND OFFICER TO ARREST DODGE AS PAROLE BREAKER

Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—John Duval Dodge, young Detroit millionaire, is to be brought back to Kalamazoo on a charge of violating his parole if local officers find that he has left Michigan without permission from the Kalamazoo County Circuit court.

Newspapers yesterday told of the disabling of Dodge's yacht off the coast of New York state and of the young millionaire playing the part of the good Samaritan to a deaf mute at Macedon, N. Y. Local officials declare that no permission was given to Dodge to leave the state, and Frank Brown, probation officer, was sent east to apprehend Dodge.

Dodge was placed on probation by Circuit Judge George V. Weimer after he had been convicted last April of transporting and possessing liquor. One provision of the probation sentence restricted Dodge to the jurisdiction of the court and forbade his leaving the state.

In Open Boats Five Hours—Radio Brings Rescue.

cities and were returning from Hawaii. The ship, known as the Huro during the war, recently was allocated to the Los Angeles Steamship company for six months' trial in the Hawaiian service. One of the passengers was Roy H. Crowder, general passenger agent for the line, who was making the round trip on the maiden voyage of the ship in this service. The vessel had reached a point 1,405 miles from Honolulu and 670 miles from San Pedro harbor when the fire broke out. An attempt at first was made to drive for port and hold the fire back, but it gained headway so rapidly that Capt. Lester slowed down to avoid fanning the fire.

Passengers Lose Their Luggage. The City of Honolulu had been newly outfitted for the service, and the passenger cabins were luxuriously furnished and decorated in the effort to establish it as one of the finest ships crossing the Pacific.

Arrangements will be made to route the passengers through to their destinations as soon as the transport Thomas arrives at the mainland. The passengers are practically without anything except the clothing they wore when they took to the boats. There was ample time for them to dress, the wireless reports indicated, but the salvaging of their baggage was out of the question.

On his first trip to sea, W. P. Bell of Oakland had added his name to the list of men who stood by their ships until the last plunge into the depths of the waters. Bell was chief wireless operator aboard the City of Honolulu.

Last Message From Ship. At 10:31 a. m., only a few minutes before the flames drove the last man into the boats, Bell sent the following message: "Captain and gang leaving now. Good-by to you all."

In the "gang" with Capt. R. H. Lester and Operator Bell were the chief officer and chief engineer. Ten minutes before he sent the last message Bell had said that everyone aboard the ship, except those four, had taken to the boats.

H. D. Hancock of Venice, Cal., was second operator aboard the vessel, and N. C. Kummer of Yakima, Wash., was third operator. All were Radio Corporation of America men, employed at San Francisco and assigned to the vessel from the local office by Arthur A. Isbell, general superintendent of the Pacific division of the corporation.

Operators' Bravery Praised. When word was received today that Bell had struck to his post to the last Isbell said:

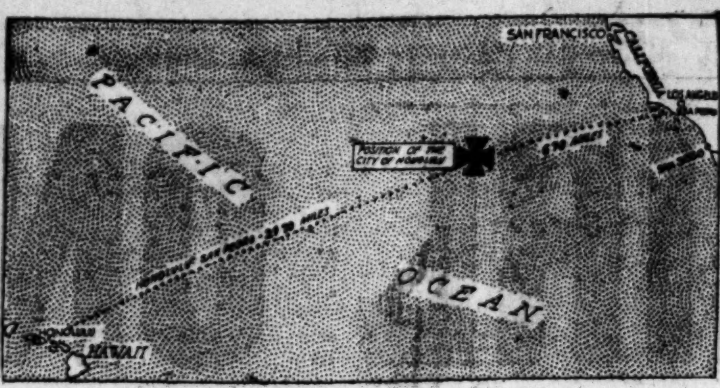

"Although this was Bell's first trip in our service, I am extremely gratified to know he has upheld the fine tradition of Radio Corporation men by staying at his post as long as it was humanly possible. I have not the slightest doubt that Hancock and Kummer were near at hand for emergency, and that they, too, deserve praise."

Capt. J. C. Walk, master of the United States shipping board freighter West Farallon, San Francisco for Yokohama, via San Pedro, which picked up the passengers and crew of the City of Honolulu, sent this wireless message to Struthers and Barry, operators for the government, at 5 o'clock tonight:

"All on board City of Honolulu taken on board West Farallon; conditions favorable, awaiting arrival of transport Thomas."

May Tug Hull to Port. Following the message, officials of

WHERE STEAMER BURNED AT SEA

The map shows the position of the liner City of Honolulu, which burned at sea, and was abandoned by its 214 passengers and crew. The ship was 670 miles off Los Angeles. Five rescue vessels were within a few hours of the City of Honolulu when its S. O. S. came and they at once proceeded to its aid. The West Farallon, a small freighter, reached it while the fire was still raging and picked up the passengers in the boats. The Enterprise, the Thomas, the City of Los Angeles, and the yacht Casiana also were reported to be standing by.

The sea was smooth when the disaster occurred. Order prevailed throughout, and no lives are reported lost.

Struthers and Barry sent word to Capt. Walk to try to take the City of Honolulu in tow and bring the liner to San Francisco. The same message asked that, in the event the transport Thomas failed to arrive, to head to this port with the passengers and crew.

The Red Stack tug Sea Lion was dispatched from here at 4 o'clock this afternoon to the scene of the burning vessel, but it will not be able to reach the scene before some time tomorrow night.

Although three other vessels—the Monrovia, the Army transport Thomas, and the private yacht Casiana of Edward L. Doheny, are standing by, it is believed that many of those rescued from the City of Honolulu will have to remain on the decks until larger vessels arrive. The West Farallon is registered in Seattle and the ship was bound from San Francisco for Yokohama.

Honolulu Mail on Board. San Pedro, Cal., Oct. 12.—Harry Weaver, local superintendent of mails, said there was a quantity of Honolulu mail on the City of Honolulu for various mainland points. He expressed hope that there had been opportunity to transfer it. This was the first east-bound mail ship under a new contract between the government and the Los Angeles Steamship company.

East St. Louis, Ill., Oct. 12.—Peoria was chosen as the next meeting place of the northwestern branch of the Foreign Missionary society, in session here today. capitalist of Los Angeles, heard the distress signals from the City of Honolulu before the West Farallon did, the freighter was only fifty miles away when it started to the rescue shortly before noon.

Conditions Favor Rescue. Conditions were favorable both for the small boats of the City of Honolulu to ride safely and for the West Farallon to make fast time, and by 2:45 p. m., the rescuing steamer had reached the scene and was starting to take the passengers aboard. All had reached the deck by 3:40 p. m., messages stated.

Only brief wireless communications had been received here early tonight, so it was not known under what circumstances the passengers and crew escaped from the burning vessel. Apparently the sea remained smooth throughout the day, for Capt. M. M. Walk of the West Farallon reported conditions were favorable. As the West Farallon, a shipping board freighter, has only limited accommodations, it is believed that many of those rescued from the City of Honolulu will have to remain on the decks until larger vessels arrive. The West Farallon is registered in Seattle and the ship was bound from San Francisco for Yokohama.

BULLETIN.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
PARIS, Oct. 12.—Quai d'Orsay announced today that the near eastern peace conference will be held in some city in southern Italy. Both France and Italy are opposed to a conference in Scutari under the guns of the British fleet. The Turks prefer Italy, instead of Scutari.

RODOSTA, Thrace, Oct. 12.—It was announced here today that the chiefs of staff of the British, French, and Italian armies would arrive here this afternoon and confer with Gen. Nider, the Greek commander. They will inform him of the decisions reached at the Mudania armistice conference and arrange for the expeditious evacuation of Thrace.

Athens Agrees to Sign.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 12.—[United News.]—The Greek government has telegraphed Gen. Sir Charles Harrington, the British representative here, that it is ready to sign the Mudania armistice agreement.
The Greek delegates declined to sign when the Turks and the other allied powers reached the agreement several days ago, explaining that certain questions involved would have to be referred to Athens for approval.
Turk detachments have entered the island zone and Gen. Harrington has demanded that they withdraw.

Allies Ready to Move In.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 12.—[By the Associated Press.]—Plans for the allied detachment to move into Thrace and occupy the territory in conformity with the armistice convention signed at Mudania were completed today. The forces will comprise three battalions of British troops, three of French, and one of Italian, a total of 6,000 men. The detachments will leave Constantinople early next week.

Four thousand Turks crossed the newly-defined boundary at Afyon, north of Derje on the Ismid peninsula, this morning, and advanced some miles to Trepurman. [Trepurman?] Gen. Harrington sent an airplane to warn the offending commander against trespassing on the neutral zone.

Skeptical of Allies.
ADRIANOPLE, Oct. 12.—[By the Associated Press.]—News of the conclusion of the armistice at Mudania was received quietly here, as a large part of the population already regarded the entry of the Turks into eastern Thrace as inevitable. Talk of resistance is mainly confined to the army. Withdrawal of funds from the banks and liquidation of assets have been in progress for several days, and will undoubtedly be accelerated by the knowledge that British civil authorities will be in charge forty-five days after the armistice takes effect.

Despite the presence of the allied troops sent here from Constantinople, the Christian populations seem unwilling to believe that the allies can carry out their guarantees of protection, and a repetition of the Smyrna massacres is feared by many.

ATHENS, Oct. 11.—Vivid stories of misery and massacre of fleeing Asia Minor Greeks are told by Alfred Brady, the American Smyrna disaster committee in Constantinople, formerly of Tulsa, Tex., who just arrived in Athens from a two weeks' trip in the islands of the Smyrna district rescuing Greek and Armenian refugees from the beaches.

Mr. Brady, administering relief from the funds raised by the American colony in Constantinople, found the Turks opposed to efforts to aid in the rescue of the panic-stricken Christian population. While thousands of homeless huddled on the beaches the Turks took on vessels flying American and British flags which attempted rescue work.

Turk Massacres Continue.

to Angora into what is tantamount to slavery and the majority of women and children have been exiled to Greek soil. The Turks' campaign of massacre and terror continues as the last surviving Christian communities are being wiped out one by one. I made my headquarters in Mytilene while a fleet of seventeen vessels flying the American flag took refugees from coast villages.

"On Oct. 2 I was informed that 10,000 refugee women and children were concentrated by the Turks at Alvali bay. I proceeded there on an American navy destroyer. Arriving outside the port, we went in to the beach on a shore boat flying the Stars and Stripes. Turkish troops turned a machine gun on the boat, the bullets snapping off the flagstaff from which the flag was floating. When we landed they denied that there were any refugees there. Later we found higher officers, who treated us courteously and told us we could take off refugees. No apology was made for firing on the American flag beyond saying, 'Our men misunderstood their orders.'

Loot the Refugees.

"Before the refugees were put onto a small craft which transported them to the islands, all were forced to pass through lines of Turkish troops in the city custom house. These troops supposedly searched them for arms and ammunition, but in reality they systematically looted every bit of money and jewelry the old men or women possessed. In hundreds of cases women who came aboard the refugee ships reported that they had been beaten and mistreated by the Turks, but I saw no actual mistreatment of women.

A Greek's Folly.

"One young Greek, aged 25, tried to escape by wearing a fez and pretending to be a Turk going aboard relief ships on business. When he had crossed the gangway he thought he was safe in the protection of a foreign flag. Then I saw him tear the red fez from his head, rip it in half, and spit on it, meanwhile shouting frenzied curses at the Turks. A file of Turkish soldiers immediately boarded the ship, dragged him ashore, and shot him.

PRESCRIPTIONS FOR COAL FLOOD DEALERS IN FUEL

Use Cheaper Grades Till
Later, They Urge.

In the midst of a somewhat panicky scramble for coal, brought on by the first hint of winter and talk of a fuel famine, Dr. Blank, the family physician, has come to the rescue of many Chicagoans. The same minister who, under the eighteenth amendment, has proved a friend in need, is putting his prescription pen to new use—he is writing prescriptions for coal.

By way of emphasizing the seriousness of the fuel situation confronting Chicago, Marshall Kelg, vice president in charge of purchases and sales of the Consumers company, yesterday dumped the contents of a filing case on his desk. There were white slips, blue ones, and pink—almost every color, and all prescriptions, or certificates, of doctors urging that certain customers, because of illness in the family, be preferred in coal distribution.

Buy Cheaper Goods.

"What are we to do in the face of this?" asked Mr. Kelg, indicating the heap on his desk. "There is just one thing we can do. We must convince consumers it is up to them to save the situation by using the cheaper grades of coal; soft coal if coke can't be had, until the supply of anthracite increases. Otherwise, there will be trouble when winter sets in."

Mr. Kelg singled out one of the doctors' certificates. It read:

"Mrs. — has been in ill health for months. Her condition makes it imperative that her home be properly heated."

This was typical of innumerable other certificates.
"This avalanche of doctors' prescriptions for fuel is something of a novelty, and we don't know just how to regard it," Kelg went on. "However, the presumption in each instance must be that the case is one demanding special consideration."

Fuel Shortage Expected.

Coal men seem agreed that, come what may, a serious fuel shortage this winter is in prospect unless a slackening of industrial activity such as was caused by depressed conditions two years ago should develop. In this event the heavy railway traffic now causing car shortage would slow up. The fuel shortage, according to many coal dealers, is directly the result of inadequate railway facilities. But while orders for anthracite have swamped dealers the latter point out that they are able to supply adequate quantities of a suitable emergency substitute, at much less cost. For instance, Illinois nut coal at $10.50 a ton is available in almost unlimited amounts, as well as Pocahontas nut. While anthracite was in demand at about $15.50 here yesterday, few consumers—excepting those with doctors' prescriptions, perhaps—were getting deliveries.

PARIS, Oct. 12.—It was reported today that the French government has received an important communication from Washington concerning the prospective American participation in the straits conference to insure that the British do not win dominant control of the waterway. As the straits conference is supposed to be held under the auspices of the league of nations, America is inquiring whether this decision is final or could be changed, according to the report.

The state department in the note upheld the French desire to allow all Black sea states to participate in the conference in order to prevent future troubles. Thus Turkey received an evasive answer in Quai d'Orsay tonight, but I left under the impression that some sort of communication to this effect had been received.

Missionaries to America.

At the same time the Clarence league, or the Clarence Anti-Defamation league, will attempt to do some missionary work with the general public. An effort will be made to prove that there is nothing inherently shrieking about the name of Clarence.

In his circular letter to the Clarences of New York and Newark Mr. Massey traces the name centuries before the "false, fleeting, perjured Clarence" of Shakespeare's history and finds that Colonel of Antwerp was the first Duke of Clarence in the fourteenth century. Clarence was in those days the symbol of rugged and high qualities.

Those Darn Smart Alecks.
"Since then," wrote Massey, "hundreds of famous men have been named Clarence, but some smart Alecks of recent years have come to look upon the name of Clarence as a joke. They seem to think that anybody with the name of Clarence is a mollycoddle."

"Such is not the case. 'All the Clarences I have known have been upstanding, two-fisted men. Whenever any one ridicules the name of Clarence, impress upon him that he is not funny, but only foolish.'"

"Amnesty."

"October 15."

These words in large flaming letters about at the irregulars from billboards in all the principal cities in the twenty-six counties. Between these lines are copies of the government's proclamation forgiving the irregulars if they surrender arms and cease their activities on or before that date.

Dublin and Cork newspapers have been carrying the proclamation daily for a week. They also are printing another proclamation requiring those possessing weapons to supply the nearest military office with a detailed description of them. It is not expected that there will be any material response to these appeals.

The government will inaugurate a more drastic campaign against the irregulars. Persons caught carrying revolvers or bombs may be executed under the stringent regulations to be issued next week by the army. To enforce these regulations military courts will be established, subject to a review of their findings by the general officer commanding the area.

It is now certain that Mr. Lloyd George will not resign until he is ready for a general election.

MIDDIES HAZING AGAIN; ARREST 3; 1 IN HOSPITAL

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 12.—Three midshipmen are under arrest at the naval academy here and one is in the hospital as the result of alleged hazing at the institution within the last two or three days. Those under arrest are first class men. The midshipman in the hospital is a fourth class man.

Authorities at the academy declined to divulge the names. Rear Admiral Henry E. Wilson, superintendent, said a board of inquiry would be appointed tomorrow. Unless the guilty midshipmen admit what they did, Admiral Wilson said, the whole first class will be dealt with summarily. They will be denied the privilege of attending the University of Pennsylvania football game in Philadelphia Oct. 23, he said, and will have other liberties curtailed.

MOVABLE DAMS TO CONTROL LAKE HELD FEASIBLE

Regulation of the level of Lake Michigan by a series of movable dams—the plan recommended by the sanitary district of Chicago—is entirely feasible, according to a report made public last night by Dean John F. Hayford of the Engineering school of Northwestern university. The report is the result of eleven years of work by the dean and his students.

It is directly important to Chicago, as it holds with the engineers of the sanitary district as against those of the war department, and it followed would aid the district in its fight against the restriction of the flow from Lake Michigan into the Chicago river.

Another important feature of the report is the conclusion of the dean that he can estimate in a day the level of the lake at any important port. This, it is declared, means an annual saving of $600,000 in freight rates.

Increase in the level of the lakes one-tenth of a foot, the report sets forth, would make it possible for the typically large lake vessel to carry seventy-six more tons of freight with practically no additional cost.

Least because of the low levels of the lake is caused by the reduced carrying capacity of the freighters, necessitating higher freight rates.

Regulating dams which are advocated by Dean Hayford, and which have been indorsed also by other leading engineers, would be built in the St. Lawrence river near Lake Ontario and in the Niagara river opposite Buffalo. This would make it possible to raise or lower the lake levels as necessity arose.

The report, which covers 128 pages, also goes into the question of barometric pressure on the lakes, which Dean Hayford and his colleagues have decided causes the different lake levels in cities as close together as Chicago and Milwaukee.

SHOP CRAFTS TO SEEK JURY TRIAL ON WRIT ISSUES

Railway shop crafts' strike leaders named in the temporary injunction obtained by Attorney General Daugherty will seek a trial of the issue by a jury in an effort to balk the government's move for a permanent restraining order.

This announcement, hinted at in federal court injunction proceedings here yesterday, was definitely made last night by Donald R. Richberg, attorney for E. M. Jewell and other strike leaders. Mr. Richberg said he will formally move for this procedure next Monday.

At the same time it became known that a motion by Blackburn Estelme, assistant United States solicitor general, that hearing on the permanent injunction be referred to Charles B.

MRS. HARDING SITS UP; SOCIAL ACTIVITIES OFF

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12.—[Special.]—For the first time since she was stricken seriously ill five weeks ago, Mrs. Florence Kling Harding, wife of the President, was permitted to sit up this afternoon.

Brig. Gen. Sawyer, the White House physician, said that Mrs. Harding sat up for twelve minutes and that she suffered no ill effects from the experience. She is in good spirits, it was declared, and hopes soon to regain strength enough to resume some of her duties as hostess of the White House.

It is unlikely that there will be any social program at the White House this winter, however, as Mrs. Harding will be forced to abandon all strenuous activities until her health is restored.

French to Fight Ruling.
PARIS, Oct. 12.—[By the Associated Press.]—The French line has decided to fight the Washington ruling against carrying liquor by foreign owned liners within American territorial waters, and, in the event of an adverse decision in the United States Supreme court, will move to obtain an appeal to the international court of justice at The Hague.

"Liquor as usual" up to the three-mile limit was the decision the board of directors of the French line made today after two long sessions. "Then seal up the bars and let international law take its course."

The British lines are understood to be in perfect harmony with the French company in this matter. The first test case is likely to arise when the White Star liner Majestic, which is scheduled to sail from Cherbourg Oct. 18, reaches New York.

Ex-Fiancee to Sue Candler as Defamer of Character

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 12.—Mrs. Onesima De Bouchel will return to Atlanta within ten days or two weeks to institute legal proceedings against Asa G. Candler Sr., Atlanta capitalist, and others for alleged defamation of her character, according to a statement by Harry Gamble, her attorney, just before the two boarded a train tonight for New Orleans.

Mrs. De Bouchel, in statements since her arrival here last Sunday, had said Mr. Candler told her he had decided that his marriage to her, which had been scheduled for Sept. 20, was "impossible" because of reports that had been brought to him reflecting on her, but that he declined to reveal the source of his information.

Woman with Mrs. De Bouchel.

After a conference with his client Attorney Gamble decided to return to New Orleans tonight instead of remaining here, for a few days, as he had announced he would do. A woman friend of Mrs. De Bouchel from New Orleans accompanied her on the return trip.

Before her departure Mrs. De Bouchel said she must have rest now. "The ordeal has been tremendous," she said, "but no more than making up my own mind to go through with it."

Mrs. De Bouchel earlier today made public a copy of a letter she said she had written to Mr. Candler Sr. before she came here.

"Do you expect me to let this hideous slander go unpunished," the letter said. "I will publish it to the whole world and we will see if the world is as credulous as you seem to be and as you expect me to be."

Clumsy Conspiracy, She Says.

"This is a clumsy conspiracy that imposes on nobody but you. Why did it come up in Atlanta, right at the time, in fact just in time, to stop your coming to Reno for our wedding on the 20th?"

"You must divulge the name of this person," the letter continued. "Unless you do I'll go on the assumption that there is no such person."

"I entreat you by our friendship, in the name of the feelings of affection that have existed between us, to go more deeply in this matter. You will find it false."

"All I ask is plain justice."

"Onesima De Bouchel."

No statement came from Candler today.

MAC NIDER HALTS PLAN TO RENAME HIM COMMANDER

New Orleans, La., Oct. 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—Hartford MacNider, national commander of the American Legion, tonight declared that under no circumstances would he be a candidate to succeed himself as national commander, and that he would "bitterly oppose" any proposal to change the national constitution of the legion, which would make possible a second term for a national head of the Legion.

"I would regard such an action by the Legion as a tragic mistake," Mr. MacNider said in a statement to the Associated Press.

The announcement was brought forth by repeated rumors, current among delegates here today, that, in the event of a deadlock, friends of MacNider might bring forward a constitutional amendment which would make it possible for him to succeed himself.

Outstanding among other legionnaires whose names are being discussed for the national command are Col. A. A. Sprague of Chicago, Alvin M. Outley of Texas, chairman of the Legion's commission on Americanization, Joseph Thompson of Pennsylvania, and T. Semmes Walmsley of New Orleans.

GRAIN SLASHED TO LET ARMOUR ESCAPE, CHARGE

Influence Over Board of Trade 'Intimated.'

W. C. CUTTEN.

Large elevator interests which were "short" of the market were held responsible by Arthur W. Cutten, testifying before the federal trade commission yesterday, for the invasion of the emergency car delivery rule by Board of Trade last May, an action which is said to have caused wheat to drop from $1.46 to $1.16 a bushel during the last twelve days of that month.

Other witnesses during the day admitted that the Armour Grain company and the Rosenbaum Grain company, both of which were "short" of the market, were the principal concerns to benefit by the forcing down of prices in wheat. The commission, pursuant to a resolution passed by the senate, is attempting to establish the relationship between speculation and the fluctuation of grain prices.

Board Member Since 1897.
Mr. Cutten, who has been credited with being one of Chicago's heaviest players on the grain market, described himself to the commission as a manufacturer and a farmer residing in Glen Ellyn. He said he had been a member of the Board of Trade since 1897.

"Did you go from the farm to the city or from the city to the farm?" asked Victor Murdock, acting chairman of the commission.

"From the city to the farm," the witness replied.

Mr. Cutten said he was long between 1,000,000 and 3,000,000 bushels of wheat when the emergency car delivery rule was invoked last May and that he was compelled to sell a large part of it at a loss. George E. Marcy, president of the Armour Grain company, and other witnesses had testified that this rule, permitting the delivery of grain in cars on track instead of in elevators, was invoked because all elevators were tied to overflowing and there was no storage room left.

Room in Private Elevators.
Mr. Cutten said he was not sure about the public elevators but that he believed there was room in private elevators. He pointed out that one thing that convinced him the rule was invoked to please elevator interests that were short was the fact that there were 7,800 cars of wheat on the tracks in Chicago while there were only about 100 cars of other grains. He said that while there were between 8,000,000 and 10,000,000 bushels of wheat on the tracks other grains were being stored. When asked as to the reason for the drop in price, the witness said:

"People carried the wheat in cars until the demurrage charges became so heavy they were forced to liquidate. "Then you think this arbitrary rule by a board who have nothing to do with the raising of grain—a rule which shot the prices down—was invoked at the behest of the elevator men?" asked Mr. Murdock.

"That is my opinion."

Invisible Influence Hinted.

Q—Were you ever in politics, Mr. Cutten? A—No.

Q—Ever run for office? A—No.

Q—You've missed a lot. You know there is an influence in politics that can be exerted without anything in writing or even a telephone conversation. Is it possible for some such influence to be used in the grain trade so as to leave no record? A—Yes, sir, it is.

Mr. Cutten promised to supply the commission with the figures of his deals last May.

L. F. Gates, former president of the Board of Trade, admitted it was common rumor that the Armour Grain company was one of the large houses to benefit by the invoking of the emergency car rule. E. F. Rosenbaum, president of the J. Rosenbaum Grain company, also admitted that both that concern and the Armour interests were the heaviest dealers in wheat last May but explained this by the fact that both houses are strongly represented in the Missouri valley, whence the May wheat came.

J. O. Schreiner, a trader, denied having made $1,000,000 on the market last year.

U. OF C. SHARES MILLIONS MADE IN STANDARD OIL

New York, Oct. 12.—[Special.]—Declaration of a 400 per cent stock dividend by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, had the peculiar rise that issue has recently experienced in trading conducted on the New York stock exchange, has directed attention to the vast increase in wealth resulting to the large holders of the issue.

Last year the Standard Oil of New Jersey stock sold at a little less than $125.00 a share. Last night, before the stock exchange had definite knowledge that the company proposed to distribute to its shareholders a big stock dividend, it sold above $241, an increase in market value of slightly more than $116 a share in the last year.

A stock list of the company of recent date shows John D. Rockefeller Jr. to be a holder of 38,970 shares of the preferred stock and 452,850 shares of the common stock.

Disregarding the probable effect on the market price of the issue the declaration of the big stock dividend is likely to have, it is indicated, that during the last year the holdings of Rockefeller Jr. in Standard Oil of New Jersey common shares alone have increased slightly more than $52,000,000 in value.

When the government started its dissolution suit against the company in 1907, John D. Rockefeller held in his own name 247,692 out of the existing 983,353 shares. But judging by the latest stock list he no longer directly owns even one share.

In the accompanying table, there is given a list of the largest or best known holders of Standard Oil of New Jersey stock, together with the increase in the market value of their holdings. The University of Chicago, with $2,320,000, is included.

SCHOONER HENRY FORD WINS NO. 1 OFF GLOUCESTER

Bluenose Missing After Tow Line Breaks.

GloUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—The Gloucester fishing schooner Henry Ford, under command of Capt. O'Connell, Morisset, who is also the principal owner, today won the first of the elimination races off this port. In spite of this victory, however, it is by no means certain the Ford is any nearer the honor of being selected to meet the Canadian defender of the fishermen's cup, the Blue Nose, out of Lunenburg, than she was before today's trial and every one of the four American entrants in the elimination series remains an unknown quantity.

Main Topmast Is Lost.
On the second leg of today's encounter when it was leading the Henry Ford by a margin of eight minutes, the schooner Elizabeth Howard, which is of New York registry, carried away its main topmast and subsequently withdrew from the race.

Second from the Henry Ford at the finish, but more than a quarter of an hour astern, was the Boston fisherman Tinker. Thirty-seven minutes in the wake of the leader came the A. L. Dunton, also out of Boston.

After an all day search, the Canadian destroyer Patriot has not found the schooner Blue Nose, Nova Scotia fishing champion lost when the tow line parted, according to messages late tonight. Concern was felt by fishing folk. The Blue Nose was bound here to defend its title in the big race.

Defect in Construction.
The 15 knot wind today came off shore, out of the southwest, sweeping the sea clean. It was fresh enough to bed the schooners over on a reach and to drive them boiling through the water on every run.

There was not wind enough to carry any more and the mishap which put Captain Ben Pine's Elizabeth Howard out of the race was due to some fault in the stepping of the topmast.

CROOKS PREY ON ITALIANS TRYING TO SLIP INTO U. S.

Seek to Evade Immigration Act. BY V. DE SANTO.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

ROME, Oct. 12.—The return from New York of the steamship America of the Navigazione Generale with fifteen clandestine emigrants who were refused admittance to the United States and sent back to Italy forces on the attention of the public the tragic plight of many Italians seeking to enter America.

Tens of thousands of Italians from America, who happened to be in this country on a visit when the American immigration law went into effect, almost lost their heads when they discovered they could no longer return to the United States. They leave nothing untried in order to find a way to get back to the land of their dreams.

The sixteen men on the America who sought to enter the United States (one died and was buried at sea) paid $6,000 lire (about $1,500) each to some member of the crew for the privilege of riding in the bunkers, but many pay even greater amounts to crooks who promise to get them back into America.

COSTA RICAN OIL ROW.

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Oct. 12.—Former President Gonzalez Viquez will represent Costa Rica in the dispute with Great Britain over oil land concessions which will be argued in Washington before Chief Justice Taft as arbitrator. The dispute concerns the concessions granted in 1910 to Amory & Sons, which were repudiated by the Costa Rican congress in 1921.

POLICE SEEKING FORMER PORTER AS TRAIN ROBBER

Working on the theory that the lone robber who staged the daring holdup of the California limited, the Santa Fe's crack train, as it was leaving Kansas City for Chicago early yesterday, was a former Pullman porter, police of both cities are searching the colored sections of the city.

The man, described as a "light colored Negro," appeared in one of the Pullman coaches a few moments after the train had left the Kansas City depot, but while it was still in the city limits. He robbed several passengers, including Donald E. Long, a secret service agent, but apparently afraid that the train would rather such speed in the country he could not get off, he jumped after taking less than $200.

Straining Every Link in the Regal Chain from Coast to Coast

The sales reports just received from all stores show that every Regal Shoe in every city in the country, from New York to San Francisco, more than doubled the sales of last year for the month of September.

When the price of leather dropped this Spring I dropped the price of all Regal Shoes to $6.80, and immediately announced the return to our old Platform—"One Profit, One Quality, and One Price."

This Fall the cost of leather has increased, but the volume of business in all Regal stores has increased so much faster that we can afford to maintain our Quality, and maintain our Price.

And the Reason is 100% increase in Sales and $100,000 saved in Expense.

Concentrating the entire production of our factory on One Quality and One Price, cuts down the factory expense by increasing production and reducing factory inventories.

Selling all shoes in our stores at One Price, cuts down the Selling Expense, and makes it possible to carry a greater variety of styles with a smaller stock, because our salesmen don't have to show you the same style in different grades at higher prices.

Saving more in our Factory, selling more in our Stores, and sharing the savings by giving greater value for less money, is the reason why the Regal Chain of Stores from Coast to Coast is showing the greatest increase in the shoe business.

BOTULISM LOSES ITS TERROR; HEAT WILL KILL IT

Washington, Oct. 12.—An exhaustive investigation over a period of several years by the medical schools of Harvard, the University of California and Stanford university, in cooperation with the United States public health service, has determined that the food poisoning known as botulism may be avoided by the proper amount of heating. It was announced today by the National Canners' association at whose request the investigation was made.

A report made to the board of directors of the association in Washington declared that the research has proven "that all canned foods, whether prepared at home or in a large factory, are safe if heated for the time that has been scientifically determined."

"This research work," it was stated, "has occupied thirty scientific men with a corps of helpers since the sensational botulism outbreak in 1919, but as a result of the investigation botulism is no longer a mystery, for it has finally been conquered by heat."

Heat the Only Remedy.

"The only means of sterilizing canned food is by heat," it was said. "After the can is sealed the proper application of heat destroys the bacteria that grow on all fresh food. In order to make canned food safe, it was necessary to learn the exact amount of heat necessary to kill botulism in every kind of food. The influence of heat was studied under all possible conditions."

"Sausages were formerly supposed to be the chief source of botulism, but it is now known that botulism exists

ARMY MEN WIN 2 AIR RACES IN NATIONAL MEET

Selfridge Field, Mount Clemens, Mich., Oct. 12.—[Special.]—Army men carried off the honors in today's national aviation meeting. The aerial mail trophy race was won today by Lieut. Eric H. Nelson, who piloted a Martin transport, equipped with two 400 horsepower Liberty engines. He made the course of 240 miles at a rate of 105.1-10 miles an hour.

Lieut. H. R. Harris, flying the "Honeymoon Express" with a 400 horsepower Liberty engine, captured the aviation country club trophy race, beating his next opponent by at least twenty-five miles.

The "Honeymoon Express" traveled 135.1-10 miles per hour, beating Casey Jones in his Curtiss Oriole by twenty-four miles an hour. Jones averaged 109.4-10 miles an hour over the 240 mile course, taking second place.

Three Battle for Honors.
At the finish of the third lap of the aerial mail race, a battle was staged between Lieut. Ballard, Melville, and Nelson. All three were about to make the turn at the Selfridge pylons when the motor transport No. 28 took a great sprint of speed and led the field from then on. Lieut. Austin substituted for Capt. W. R. Lawson.

Pilot Johnson, flying a Vought V 5, was forced down at the end of the third lap. He escaped without injury. Eddie Stinson arrived here this afternoon from Chicago at 3:30 p. m. with his junker plane. He had planned on entering the Aviation Country club trophy race but was ruled out by the referee on a technicality.

Air Full of Planes.

Previous to the start of the races the air at the field was full of planes which are to take part in the other events Friday and Saturday.

Among prominent Chicagoans here this week are Blon J. Arnold, Samuel L. Felton, W. P. McCracken, F. C. Higgins, W. A. Dudley, W. F. Lafrans, N. F. Link, R. W. Page, G. A. Shooner, and C. W. Wyman. RECTOR SLAYING CHARGE AGAINST YOUTH DROPPED

Schneider Admits Telling Lies About Hayes.

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—Raymond Schneider, who accused Clifford Hayes, youthful ex-convict, of murdering the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills on Sept. 14, collapsed in the Somerset county jail today and recanted his accusation. Counsel for Hayes rushed to Somerville in response to a hurried summons from County Prosecutor A. M. Beckman, and Hayes was released in the lawyer's custody.

Schneider, when he collapsed, confessed to the authorities that he had "framed" Hayes. His story, the one which resulted in the arrest of Hayes, was that he and Hayes had gone to the farm the night of the murder in pursuit of Pearl Bahmer and her father, and that Hayes had shot the rector and the choir singer, mistaking them for the Bahmers.

Six Hour Confession.
Schneider retracted his confession in the presence of Mr. Beckman, Warden Major, a stenographer and three newspaper reporters, in the conference room of the county jail.

Simultaneously with the release of Hayes from custody, the charge of murder against him was dismissed. Hayes said tonight he "wasn't sore at Ray" for the murder accusation.

Schneider wept profusely as he retracted his accusation. He said that he had not been influenced in the slightest by the authorities.

"O Mr. Beckman, I only wish I had taken your advice and had not told so many lies about Cliff Hayes," Schneider moaned. "I'm sorry for what I did to Cliff, but he lied about me and I wanted to get even with him."

He Lied to Avenge Lies.
"I lied about Hayes out of revenge, because he and Pearl Bahmer in statements to the Middlesex county authorities lied about me when they said I was on the Phillips farm on the night of the murder. I thought they were trying to get me into trouble and have me accused of the murder."

"After I had been in the jail here for a while I began to think about all the trouble I started by telling those lies about Hayes. My conscience began to bother me. When I saw Clifford's family come here to see him yesterday, my heart went out to them and I thought of my own mother. From that time on I just wanted to tell the truth and make things right."

As yet there has been no move to release Schneider, and Prosecutor Beckman declared he intends to hold Schneider in jail until entirely satisfied the youth has told all he knows.

Old Fight Over Legality of Committee Up Again.

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

Two Republican nominating conventions for naming the two candidates for Supreme court judges to be voted upon at the constitutional election on Dec. 12 are now a certainty. The issue involved is reduced to the single question:

"Is the Thompson or the Brundage-Deneen-Crowe county committee the legal Republican organization in Cook county?"

The city hall grabbed at the opportunity and, through Charles H. Francis, chairman of the city hall county committee, a session was held of the five county chairmen from Cook and the four outlying counties in the Supreme court district—Lake, Will, DuPage, and Kane. Acting as a district committee, the five chairmen called a convention to be held the day after the November election.

Galpin Issues Call.

Homer K. Galpin, acting as chairman of the "old" Cook county committee, placed in power by a Supreme court decision, has called a meeting of the county chairmen for tomorrow noon, for the purpose of issuing a call for a district convention. Whether any or all of the four "outside" chairmen will attend remains to be seen. It probably will be put up to Secretary of State Emmerson as to which is the legal committee.

Republicans of all factions will hold a joint meeting tonight at Medinah Temple. It is billed as a gathering of the precinct workers from all over Chicago for the purpose of receiving instructions for the campaign. Congressman Martin B. Madden is announced as the presiding officer. If he gets to Chicago from Washington today.

The speakers will be Miss Mary Bailey, assistant United States District Attorney, representing the woman Republicans; Peter M. Hoffman, nominee for sheriff; Edward R. Litsinger, for board of review; Frank S. Riegelmer, for county judge, and Charles Ringer, for treasurer.

It was stated that Ex-Gov. Deneen.

RECEIVER IS NAMED FOR ELGIN MOTORS, ALLEGED BANKRUPT

The Elgin Motor Car corporation yesterday was thrown into bankruptcy when an involuntary petition was filed in the United States District court here by attorneys representing three Chicago banks, each of which entered claims of $10,000.

Following the action, Federal Judge George A. Carpenter appointed Fred E. Hummel receiver.

The banks which caused the filing of the petition are Greengbaum Sons Trust and Savings bank, the Central Trust company and the Century Trust and Savings bank.

Liabilities of the company are approximately $1,000,000 and assets cannot be determined without investigation, it was said.

Praises Horner's Work.

Probate Judge Henry Horner's work in handling estates of soldiers was highly commended last night in a statement issued by Carl R. Latham, chairman of a subcommittee of the Chicago Bar association during the war which gave legal aid to soldiers. As the war progressed much of the work had to do with soldiers' estates in which it was necessary to have guardians, administrators and executors appointed.

"Judge Horner was always considerate and sympathetic in caring for the estates of soldiers and rendered splendid service," Mr. Latham's statement said. "He was most helpful in arranging with trust companies whereby they acted as guardian and administrator without charge. All estates in which the assets consisted of government money only were administered under Judge Horner free of court costs. "Judge Horner in every way was helpful in facilitating a simple, inexpensive administration of soldiers' estates so that practically the entire estate went to the beneficiaries and was not eaten up by expenses. I feel that Judge Horner has rendered a conspicuous service in the manner in which he has aided in the administration of soldiers' estates."

Ex-Gobs to Be Hosts to Admiral Moffett

Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, formerly commandant at the Great Lakes Naval Training station, will be the guest of men who were under his command here during the war at a banquet at the Hotel La Salle Friday evening, Oct. 27. Admiral Moffett, now stationed in Washington, is chief of the naval air service.

REV. WILLIAMSON REITERATES HIS CHARGES ON VICE

The Rev. John H. Williamson last night charged that Mayor Thompson fired him as law enforcer because of his reports to the city hall upon open vice conditions in Chicago.

He made the reports, "not upon hearsay, but after personal investigation, and in the form of documents signed and sworn to," he said, speaking before the North Shore Baptist Business Men's Bible class.

He charged that vice in Chicago is organized, with the connivance and protection of the police department. On one night during his investigation, said Rev. Williamson, he and a party of other men accosted a taxicab driver. "Can you take us to a sporting house," he said he asked the driver.

"Sure," the driver replied. Rev. Williamson said he reported also to Mayor Thompson and Chief of Police Fitzmorris that gambling dens were operating full tilt.

Armstrong's Linoleum

for Every Floor in the House

Step number one toward a better-looking office

IN an office the floor is the key to the way the office looks. A clean floor, a dignified, handsome, impressive floor demands that the other furnishings shall be better than ordinary.

This floor of Armstrong's Battleship Grey Linoleum in the general offices of Wm. F. Warner and Company, St. Louis, lends an air of dignity to the other furnishings. It tones in so beautifully with the walls, woodwork, and draperies that it is literally a part of the office.

Modern linoleum is made so strong and durable, so attractive in color and design, that it is regarded as a highly desirable floor for shops and offices, as well as for public buildings.

Linoleum is easy to clean. Grease and dirt do not sink into it. An occasional waxing and polishing keeps it looking like new. Properly laid, linoleum is waterproof, smooth, and firm. A floor of Armstrong's Linoleum is quiet and restful, and is not expensive.

Ask your architect, contractor, or any good linoleum merchant about Armstrong's Linoleum. We shall gladly send him data and specifications for laying linoleum over concrete or wood floors. Or write for a free copy of our 48-page book, "Business Floors."

It was a legal holiday for many who wished to play golf, motor and go hunting. Several thousands of persons, including school children, saw the exhibition in Grant park, near Congress street, of the identical (Columbian) anchor which the discoverer of the new world, Christopher Columbus, brought to America in 1492. THOUSANDS SEE ANCHOR USED ON COLUMBUS' SHIP

The 40th anniversary of the arrival of the American waters of Christopher Columbus was celebrated here yesterday by the opening of schools, public offices and many business establishments. It was a legal holiday for many who wished to go to the exhibition in Grant park, near Congress street, of the identical anchor which the discoverer dropped into the sands of the new world from the Santa Maria. Spanish and Italian societies, represented in speeches, respectively by Jose Martinez de Pons, Spanish consul here, and Judge Bernard P. Hanna, attended the ceremonies, conducted by the Blackhawk post of the American Legion.

Through the streets 400 girl taggers collected money in a drive for $10,000 to complete the Columbus Extension hospital, Polk street and Racine avenue. Chief among these were Mrs. Anna Cheerow and Miss Rose Palermo. In Columbus park the anniversary of the great discoverer's landing was celebrated with exercises dedicating the new $300,000 refectory building at Jackson boulevard and Central avenue. Christian F. Wiebe, president of the west park board, delivered the principal address. He said that more than $3,900,000 has been spent on the park. State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe also spoke.

Benton Harbor, Mich., Oct. 12.—[Special.]—Prosecutor C. W. Gores at St. Joseph today mailed warrants for the arrest of Mayor Homer S. Carr of Niles and his campaign manager, Fred Marshall, central figures in the gambling charges in Berrien county. The warrants set forth conspiracy to accept bribes and failure to abide by oath of office.

Carr was elected last spring. The warrant charges "solicitation" of funds from Harold Hardy, George Butler, and Alexander Griffin, keepers of alleged gaming places.

JURY FINDS SILL'S DEATH FROM GAS WAS ACCIDENT

Edward P. Sills, 4087 Oakwood avenue, retired commission merchant and member of the Chicago Athletic association, South Shore Country and Midlothian clubs, found dead yesterday in a gas filled room in his home, came to his death as the result of accidental asphyxiation, according to a coroner's jury.

Mrs. Sills, who discovered her husband lying partially dressed in a room adjoining hers, had a narrow escape from asphyxiation. When found, Mr. Sills, according to Dr. Adolph Faller, had been dead about thirty minutes. Gas escaping from a small gas heater is believed to have filled the room.

In 1881 Mr. Sills came to Chicago from Baltimore and engaged in the canned goods commission and jobbing business. Later he entered the firm of Adams, Sills & Co. and in 1894 became associated with J. K. Armistead company, from which firm he retired four years ago.

'In Again, Out Again' Oft,
Now In to Tarry.

THE RECORD.

John Maloney, 19 years old, 337 West 28th street was thrice found guilty on minor charges and fined a total of $160 in 1921.

May 22, 1922—Found guilty of auto stealing by Municipal Judge Jacobs and put on probation for six months.

Aug. 4—Held to grand jury in $10,000 bonds by Judge Schulman on two charges of robbery.

Oct. 9—Found not guilty when one witness failed to appear and another suffered loss of memory and failed to identify defendant.

Oct. 9—Released from county jail, stealing a suit of clothes from another prisoner.

Oct. 11—Shot through the right thigh, when unloading stolen clothing from a stolen truck at West 38th street and Emerald avenue and is now in the Bridewell hospital in a serious condition.

"The Way It Goes."

"That's the way it goes," said Chief Fitzmorris, as he looked over Maloney's record yesterday and commented on the six distinct efforts of the police department to put one of the most notorious of the Stockyards district's "bad men" in the penitentiary.

"It appears that a policeman's bullet did what the law previously had failed to do," the chief continued as he read the report of Patrolmen Balek and O'Day of the motorcycle section, which set forth that "the bullet struck Maloney in the right thigh, coming out through the groin, and puncturing the bladder, and he is now in a serious condition."

Two Others Arrested.

Balek and O'Day arrested two others who had been with Maloney on Wednesday night. They are Ray Burns, 3711 Emerald avenue, and another John Maloney, 3728 Union avenue.

COMPOSITION OF WOOD STRONGER THAN ORIGINAL

Madison, Wis., Oct. 12.—A wood composition stronger and better than the real article is being made from sawdust and shavings as a result of research made by Prof. George Kemmerer of the University of Wisconsin, according to announcement by the university today.

The sawdust is mixed with a new binding material which Prof. Kemmerer discovered and perfected. The mixture is subjected to pressure and the resulting product is said to be much tougher and harder than ordinary wood, does not split and is impervious to water.

The chief use of the wood composition, Prof. Kemmerer says, is in the manufacture of irregular shaped articles, such as toilet sets, radio dials and other wood products that are difficult to carve. The composition takes a good finish of varnish and enamel.

A Student Costs $478 and a Prof. $2,561 at U. of I.

Alteration Piano Sale

Only 2 Days More—Friday and Saturday

Of Discontinued Styles, New and Used Pianos, Grand Pianos, Player-Pianos and Uprights

Open every evening until 10 o'clock during this sale

THE REASON FOR THIS SALE: The contractors have a contract with us to begin remodeling our building at an early date, but we have a stipulation in the contract that they must give us 48 hours' notice so we can remove our pianos that we have in the building, so you see we are up against a rather hard proposition. It is either to sell the pianos or store them for 60 days, which would be a great expense, as you can readily see. We cannot leave these pianos in the building for they would get full of grit and dirt, and that would damage them. We would rather give the benefit to our customers than sell them at half price after they are damaged.

NOTICE Among this large stock of pianos you will find such well-known makes as the Chickering, Julius Bauer, Story & Clark, Kimball, Vose & Sons, Kroll, Hall & Sons, Emmett, Cable & Nelson, Milton, Crown, J. & C. Fischer, Conway, Bradbury, Weber, and many others.

Listen Extra discount of 20% for the next two days. This sale will positively close Saturday night at 10 o'clock,
Oct. 14.

You will find this splendid 88-note player-piano one of our latest styles in the cut above. Guaranteed for 25 years.

MILAN, Oct. 12.—From interviews with the leading men of the Fascist party today, including Sig. Mussolini, the present Italian situation may be outlined as follows:

The Fascist cabinet is considered by the Fascist as powerless. The present chamber will never allow the formation of a strong government. The Fascist are giving clear signs of energy and patriotism, and they say they must avoid a fatal deadlock and rescue the country immediately. A general election may be called before the end of the year and the Fascist feel certain they will emerge victorious from the polls.

Liberty for All

Fascist leaders state that Premier Facta will consider fully the weight of the Fascist force and he will, therefore, disband the chamber immediately after reforms in the present electoral law are effected. Should the Fascist seize power they will rule the country with a most liberal policy, providing all parties keep their activities on national grounds. They will stand for liberty for all, but will demand severe discipline from all parties.

Facta May Not Resign

The foreign policy will be inspired by the principle, "Friends with friends, and enemies towards enemies." The keenest economy must be the Italians' program if the budget is to be balanced. In view of the importance of the reopening of parliament, Premier Facta has declared the cabinet will not resign.

The electoral law reform will be discussed immediately and then the Fascist will insist that the chamber be disbanded.

"It is certain we shall have very troublesome times and a critical national crisis if the government does not agree to our stand," said one leader.

However, the Fascist leaders do not appear to be very optimistic. Premier Facta has announced that the government is ready to face whatever action is attempted against the constitutional power and it is stated that two classes may be called under the colors.

ROME, Oct. 12.—News from Innsbruck states that the third anniversary yesterday of the annexation of Tyrol to Italy was commemorated in that city with signs of the deepest mourning, accompanied by anti-Italian demonstrations.

The news produced a bad effect in the city.

ILLINOIS AHEAD OF NEW ENGLAND AS A Highbrow

DR. WALTER DILL SCOTT.

New England, with all its traditions for learning, has nothing on Illinois as a home for high-brows, quoth Dr. Walter Dill Scott, yesterday at a luncheon of the advertising council at the Morrison hotel.

The president of Northwestern university said Illinois last year had 34,756 young men and women students in institutions of higher learning, as compared with only 34,856 in the whole of New England. And while 6,000 students leave this state annually to study elsewhere, 12,000 from elsewhere come here to learn, he added.

Rome, especially among the Fascist, where it is believed the action was due to German propaganda. The Fascist are demanding that Italy refrain from giving Austria further aid. They say that Austria's ingratitude surpasses credibility, and add that Italy has been feeding tens of thousands of Austrian children.

Fascist Rebuild Town

ROME, Oct. 12.—Contending that the government had not taken adequate measures for the reconstruction of the village of Berggigi, which suffered greatly from an explosion at the fort at St. Helena in October, 1921, Fascist occupied the village today, bringing with them a large number of Fascist workmen, who immediately proceeded to rebuild the houses. The Fascist propose to build the whole village and charge the expenses to the government.

CICERO CITIZENS WIN FIGHT ON TAX INCREASE

Four hundred complaints made against citizens of Cicero by the town board of education in an effort to raise money by enforced increase of tax assessments were dismissed yesterday by the board of review. The complaints, which aroused a storm of disapproval, were withdrawn by Attorney John J. Sherlock, counsel for the board, after a series of hearings in which several hundred taxpayers participated. The increase was contested by the citizens on the ground that the proposed revaluation was directed against property owners in one section of the town. The school board asserted that unless funds were forthcoming immediately from taxation, the local schools would be closed on Feb. 1.

At the suggestion of Chairman Edward Litsinger and other members of the board, who asserted that a horizontal increase was impossible at this time, the school officials agreed to defer the proceedings until next year, when the regular quadrennial assessment will adjust the difficulties.

85 Years of Confidence

Elijah Peacock opened the original Peacock Jewelry Store in 1837, at a time when Chicago was little better than a trading-post, and his customers were ranchers, settlers, hunters, traders, trappers and occasionally Indians.

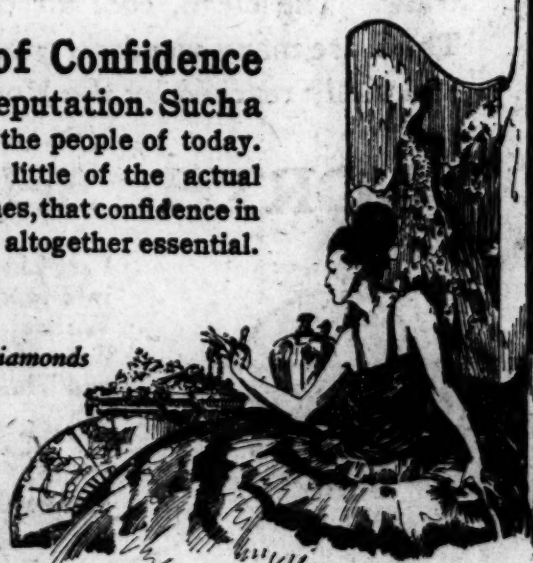

Designs in jewelry in those days were necessarily limited in variety, yet everything Elijah Peacock carried in his little shack, was of the best quality created in that period. He impressed upon his patrons the real economy of quality, and passed the thought through to his descendants.

During the 85 years that have elapsed since the pioneer store was established, there has been no change in this policy. The dominating thought has been quality, and the people learned to know that anything purchased at Peacock's may be relied upon as the best.

The confidence thus created brought to Peacock's all generations and the books of the store reveal the names of all those men who helped in the upbuilding of Chicago and later became celebrated not only locally, but nationally and internationally.

These 85 years of Confidence have given us a priceless reputation. Such a reputation means everything to the people of today. The average person knows so little of the actual value of jewelry and precious stones, that confidence in the house from which you buy is altogether essential.

MOTORIZED FIRE APPARATUS PART OF NEW SYSTEM

Largest Concern Excluded in Engine Contracts.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

MotORIZATION is the key to the evolution of the fire department into a service that calls for a new type of trained men and scientific preparedness. The new years' rehabilitation program has this as its basis.

The word "standardization" used in this connection means that Chicago has been committed through decisions reached by Business Manager John F. Culbertson and members of the city council finance committee to purchase certain makes of machines. There are cheaper engines to be had. The element of faith enters again strongly. It is charged that certain aldermen are interested as attorneys in companies which sell to the city under this "standardization" plan.

On June 28, 1921, on motion of Ald. John C. Richert, adopted by 55 yeas and no nays, the council authorized Mr. Culbertson to buy eighty-eight motor pumping engines at a cost of $1,126,550, during the years '21, 1922, and 1923. The companies favored were the Seagrave company of Columbus, O.; the Ahrens-Fox company of Cincinnati, and the Mack International Motor Truck company of New York.

For the Seagrave 750 gallon pumper the price authorized was $12,170. The Ahrens-Fox 750 gallon machines each cost $13,260. The "Mack" 500 gallons were each $11,000. There was a notation that this was to include "special equipment" and this is the explanation that Mr. Culbertson makes for paying a higher price. This equipment, he says, would cost $2,500 if purchased in any other way and brings the machines down to a figure lower than that paid for other cities for the same engines. He is supported in this by Ald. Richert and by Ald. John S. Clark, who made a special investigation in other cities.

La France Company Cut Out.
The American La France company, which sells more fire engines than all its competitors combined, has a 750 gallon pumper for $12,500 and a 500 gallon one for $11,000. This company has been cut out of the Chicago business under the present regime, although it maintains a big service and parts station in South Michigan avenue. This company had to sue the city for payment for the two machines sold several years ago.

Bids submitted to the city of Chicago Heights last August for 750 gallon combination pumps quoted $12,500 each from American La France, Seagrave, and Stutz companies. The Ahrens-Fox bid was $12,500. This is under the Chicago price, but here the matter of "extras" enters. Mr. Culbertson mentions as one extra a 1,000 foot length of finest hose on each machine.

Program Nearly Complete.
The motorization program was begun in 1916 and is nearly complete. Question of maintenance and upkeep of different groups of apparatus still remains a problem. It is part of the new plan to purchase fire apparatus material and assemble it in the department shops. Mr. Culbertson in his 1921 budget has this memorandum:

"A change of policy by the finance committee and the city council may compel the department to purchase motor fire equipment from the lowest responsible bidder in accordance with the law of advertising for bids. (This law at present is overcome by a council vote of two-thirds). This would add to our trouble of maintenance, possibly six or seven different makes of fire apparatus now being sold throughout the country on the lowest bidder basis, irrespective of quality. To date, however, this is one of the questions with which we have not been confronted, due to the businesslike manner in which the finance committee and the city council have approved our transactions."

It remains something of a mystery why three different makes were chosen even under this "businesslike manner." Instead of one.

Hose Purchase Scrutinized.

This same budget has a note about hose purchase which seems to dispose of Ald. Arthur F. Albert's charges that there was a 6 cent a foot graft somewhere in the purchase of hose for that year. Mr. Albert has taken to the state's attorney the council record for June 28, 1921, showing authorization of hose purchased at $1.23 a foot, also an amendment to this, passed in November, taking 1 cent more off this price. The explanation, which he has refused to accept, is that the price of the hose was $1.30, but 7 cents was taken off for couplings, making it necessary for the council to authorize only $1.23. Later another cent was taken off, making the payment $1.22 a foot, which was paid.

This appears to make the proceeding of which Mr. Albert has complained entirely regular.

COLD SHOULDER FOR PORK BARREL, HARDING'S PLAN

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12.—[Special.]—President Harding and congress are going to clash early in the next session if members returning from the hustings attempt to crowd the legislative hamper with bills providing for large expenditures of money.

The plans of Republican leaders to bring out a big public buildings bill, already announced by Representative Langley [Ky.], chairman of the public buildings committee, have already served to arouse the anxiety of the administration.

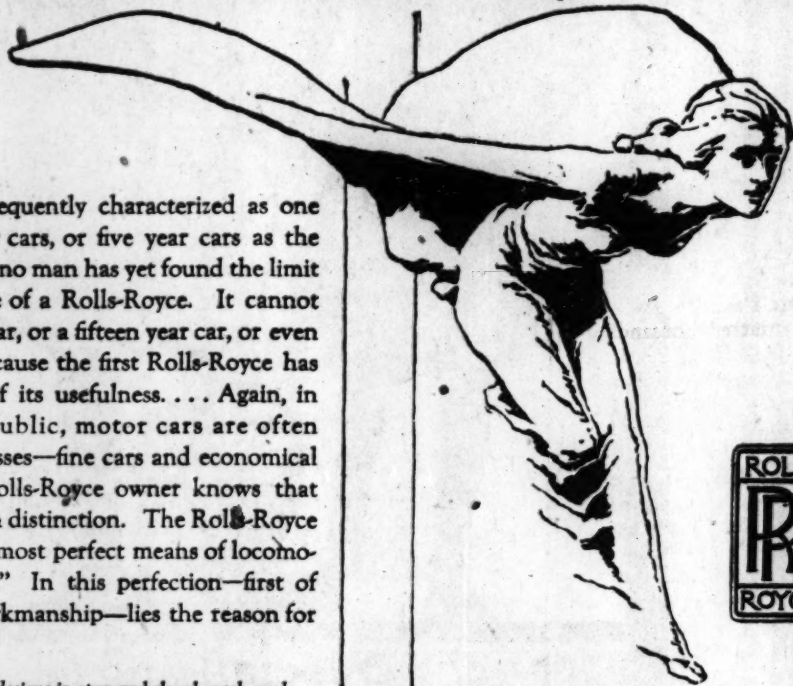

The President has announced that it will be the determined effort to keep the government budget down. Budget officers already are working to that end. Mr. Harding declares that it will be his endeavor to so hold down government expenditures that no more revenue legislation will be necessary. If $100,000,000 public building bills and such measures commonly referred to as "pork barrel" are pressed party leaders say they will meet executive discouragement and if passed, would be vetoed.

MOTOR cars are frequently characterized as one year cars, or two year cars, or five year cars as the case may be. . . . But no man has yet found the limit of the life and service of a Rolls-Royce. It cannot be called a ten year car, or a fifteen year car, or even a twenty year car, because the first Rolls-Royce has yet to see the end of its usefulness. . . . Again, in the minds of the public, motor cars are often divided into two classes—fine cars and economical cars. . . . But the Rolls-Royce owner knows that there need be no such distinction. The Rolls-Royce has been called "the most perfect means of locomotion known to man." In this perfection—first of design, second of workmanship—lies the reason for its economy.

The Stars and Stripes In the Near East

More than one hundred years ago the followers of Mohammed in the Mediterranean were forced to lower their Crescent in defeat before the American flag; to-day the largest flag afloat in Smyrna is reported to be the same Stars and Stripes, while the finest destroyers in the United States Navy have crossed the Atlantic to join other American ships near the scene of the Turkish victories.

What the United States will do is a question which looms large on three continents. In Asia Minor there is joy that America will give food and shelter; in Europe there is hope that America will join the Conference which will finally settle the status of Thrace and the Straits; in the United States the correspondents say that the Government is impressed by the great surge of anti-Turkish feeling among its citizens.

A "hands-off" policy has been officially announced with a statement of the Administration's approval of the Allied desire to keep the Straits free and the little peoples protected. Does this go far enough to suit the American people?

The leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST this week, October 14th, gives expression to public opinion of every shade in answer to that question, and shows what the Government might do, and perhaps what it will do. The article is illustrated with several half-tones and cartoons.

EBERT PROHIBITS MARK GAMBLING; QUICK RESULTS

BERLIN, Oct. 12.—[By the Associated Press.]—President Ebert today issued a decree against speculation in exchange. It forbids domestic prices being fixed in foreign currency or on the basis of such currency, and it provides that purchases of foreign currency are permissible only by consent of a special control department.

The only exception to the currency purchase control is in the case of firms and individuals duly certified as requiring foreign currency in the regular discharge of their business.

Rules for Banks.

Banks are allowed to purchase for-sign currency from persons only after they are satisfied regarding the identity of the sellers, who must sign documents explaining their identity and the nature of the transaction. One of these documents must be handed to a competent authority of the finance department to insure the legitimacy of the transaction. These transactions must not include speculation or the employment of foreign currency as an investment.

The punishment which may be imposed for violations is imprisonment for a maximum of three years and a fine up to ten fold the amount involved.

Other Draconic Steps

Several drastic steps to prevent speculation in currency and the depreciation of the mark are to be taken by the government, according to the Lokal Anzeiger today. It says the intention is to issue gold treasury bonds to the amount of 400,000,000 gold marks, bearing interest at 4 per cent, in order to counterbalance the acquisition of foreign currencies by the public, as security for the bonds, the receipts from export taxes and increase of receipts from the coal tax will be employed.

Under the influence of the proposed government steps the improvement in the mark continues, the quotation on the exchange this morning being 11.250 marks to the pound and 2,550 to the dollar.

Woman Has Food Poisoning After Eating Loop Lunch

Mrs. Susan McGuire, 152 North Cleary avenue, a stenographer in the offices of the board of election commissioners, was stricken with ptomaine poisoning yesterday after eating lunch in a loop restaurant. She was taken to the Iroquois hospital, but later developed such alarming symptoms that it was necessary to transfer her to St. Ann's hospital. Physicians from the office of Health Commissioner Bunderson have taken charge of the case and are investigating in an effort to discover the restaurant where Mrs. McGuire, a widow, had lunch.

UNVEIL STATUES OF BURKE, BRYCE, GIFTS OF BRITISH

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12.—Tribute to the work of the Sulgrave institution in fostering friendship between Great Britain and the United States was paid by Secretary of War Weeks today in accepting on behalf of the United States the statue of Edmund Burke, presented to the people of this country by the institution.

"The Americans and the Englishmen who have the best interests of their country at heart should enthusiastically endorse and support every means of preventing misunderstandings between the United States and Great Britain and bringing into closer bonds of friendship the peoples of these two great nations," said Mr. Weeks. The bonds of friendship which have maintained peace between the two countries for more than 100 years were recalled by two officials of both England and America when two statues of distinguished Britons were unveiled. The statue of Burke, friend of the colonists during the revolution, was unveiled in a city park, and a bust of the late Viscount James Bryce, long British ambassador to Washington, was unveiled in a corridor of the capitol.

Both statues were presented by Sir Charles Cheers Wakefield, former lord mayor of London. Chief Justice Taft accepted the Bryce memorial for this country.

Sir Charles Wakefield, in reviewing events leading to the break of the American colonists with the home government, declared the British king's policy to have been "stupid and un-English," and that the beliefs of Burke were those of most statesmen of the times, as well as of the British people.

Probable batteries—Statz, T. Blalock and Schall; C. B. Aldridge and O'Farrell.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Boy, page Mr. Fred Snodgrass, Arnold Statz wishes to have words with him. What the former perpetrated in 1912, when a word with him was a half of a dollar, was duplicated by the latter yesterday, and on the strength of it the White Sox rushed away from impending defeat into the lap of a series victory.
Tenderly now Statz, who had all the earmarks of a regular batter, with the great Alexander, the Sox stepped away to what appeared a cinch triumph. In six at-bats they had gathered a 3 to 0 advantage, and then came the bust. Three hits with Statz's error started the Sox on their way in the home half, two scoring. Then they tied it in the seventh and won it in the ninth.

Bases Full, O'Farrell Fans.
Gleason's hurler was Gorman Leever, and the Gary lad was pretty fair at the opening line, with one run scored home from third base by sacrifice flies, and in only one inning did the challengers unload more than a lone hit. That was the eighth, when two singles and a puntur batter loaded the sacks with two gone. In that crisis Bob O'Farrell knocked the Sox cohibers speechless by letting a puntur strike first fast.

Alex's hurling was a lot to look upon for five innings. He was frisked for only three hits during that time. The sixth found him a bit less formidable, but even then he might have saved his skin had he not blundered. After that when the Sox needed a hit to drive in a run the blow was produced. Collins and Sheely were the stars in this particular.

Cubs Count in First.
The Cubs made their first bid for a win in the opening inning, when one scored on a scratch hit. Statz got the blow, a bouncer that Mulligan couldn't handle. Hollocher walked and both were moved ahead on Terry's error. As a result the Sox measure the infield played back for the hard hitting Grimes, and when he grounded to short, Statz counted.

An element of luck entered in Cub city No. 2 in the second series. Statz was hit by a line drive, and in endeavoring to dodge a wide pitch, his bat got into the path of the ball and a two-bagger to left was the result. Statz was so amazed by this contribution from Lady Luck that he didn't even start running until the ball was past third. Then Hollocher walked and Tenny again sacrificed. Grimes slapped a long fly to Hooper to let Statz get home.

Statz's Muff Starts Sox.
With the Sox still dazed by the skill of Alex, the Cubs broke loose again in the sixth with their final run. Grimes walked and Barber singled him to third. Barber moved to second when Mulligan booted Hooper's runner throw. Muller poked off to center, Grimes scoring. Leever then tossed out Krug and O'Farrell walked. A double steal was tried, but Barber was shaved down at the plate.

The turning point of the battle didn't come until after one man had been ruled in the Sox sixth. Collins started the upheaval with a single and only sent him to third with a one out. Statz then pitched a 3 to 1 to center, and the miffed Statz got under it, but after getting it in his paws he let the ball squirt out again. Collins scored on it, and Falk's single then nullified Sheely.

Gleasons Win in Ninth.
Came the Sox seventh and a single by Hooper after Leever had been ruled out. Johnson's out advanced the veteran fly chaser. Collins then cracked a low liner to left and, although Miller came up with the ball, his throw was just what was needed to let Hooper sneak in with the tying run. With a single and triple already to his credit, Hooper opened the final Sox attack with a line drive to right. Barber needed for the ball speeded it with his gloved hand, but couldn't hold it. Hooper made two bases. Johnson was thrown out by Terry and Hooper went to third. Collins smacked a hard one to center, who knocked it down and beat the Sox captain to the bag. Then Sheely slammed one down the left field line and Hooper scored.

The Lake Mystery

BY MARVIN DANA

Horace Abernethy, a miserly musician, willed his musical library unreservedly to Saxe Temple, a young musician and the son of the woman he had loved in his youth, and left him three hundred thousand dollars in gold, contingent on Saxe's finding, within a month of Abernethy's death, the chest in which the old man had secreted it. The rest of his property, including his house in Maine and the grounds surrounding it, he left to a young cousin, Margaret West. If Saxe failed to locate the gold within a specified time it was to be divided by his lawyer, half to go to Margaret West and the other half to be used as a foundation for a home for disabled musicians.

Saxe is determined to find the money in time that he may devote all his time to the composition of operas, so he enlists the aid of his three infatigable friends, Billy Walker, Roy Morton, and David Thwing, who agree to accompany him to the old miser's home in Maine and there conduct a systematic search for the treasure.

May Thurston, the pretty young secretary of Abernethy, had been asked by the lawyer to remain in the house after the musician's death. She is secretly engaged to Hartley Masters, an engineer employed in the neighborhood.

The opening installment of this thrilling story was published on Monday. Start reading today.

INSTALLMENT V. THE SECRETARY.

"Mad as a hatter!" he ejaculated, contemptuously, as the girl brought her narrative to a close. Yet, though his voice was mocking, there was manifest in his expression an eagerness that puzzled the girl.

"No," she declared, firmly. "Mr. Abernethy was not mad. He was eccentric, of course—very! That was all, however. He wasn't crazy—unless every miser is crazy. He had a sense of humor, though. . . . And he didn't quite know what to do with his money. So he finally worked out the scheme I've told you of."

Then he really did it as a sort of joke. Masters suggested eagerly. "As much that as anything else," May answered, and her tone was thoughtful. "There was sentiment on account of Saxe Temple's mother and the old love affair. And, of course, this young man's interest in music made it seem like a good disposal of the money. But I have a suspicion, too, that Mr. Abernethy really enjoyed hiding money—making it hard for any one else to get hold of it, you know. That idea appealed to his miserly instincts, I think. . . . How he hated to leave it! 'No pockets in a shroud!' I've heard him mutter a hundred times. It was horrible—and pitiful."

"Yes, miserliness is an awful vice," Masters agreed. His tone was perfunctory although his inflections were energetic enough.

There fell a little silence between the lovers. Where they sat on the west shore, beneath the rampart of wooded hills, it was already deep dusk, but on the open space of water shone a luminous purple light, shot over with rose and gold, a reflected sunset glow over the eastern mountains. May Thurston stared bewitchingly at the wide, dancing water that led to the newly risen full moon, and she dreamed blissfully of the glory of life that was soon to come to her beside the man who had chosen her as his mate.

Masters, on the contrary, while equally enthusiastic in his musings, was by no means sentimental, as he gazed unseeing across the lake's level now twinkling daintly at touch of the slow breeze. The young engineer's thoughts were true to tell of a sort of sordid, even avaricious, covetous. And at last, after a period of profound reflection, he uttered his thought:

"May, dearest," he said softly, with a tender cadence, "what a shame it is that old miser didn't think of us!"

The girl faced her companion with a movement of shocked surprise. "Think of us?" she repeated, confusedly. "Whatever can you mean?"

Masters turned and regarded May with intentness, a fond smile showing beneath the curve of his mustache. His voice, as he spoke now, was softer than usual.

"Why," he said, "I was just thinking on the hardness of fate—sometimes. Here was this old man, with more money than he knew what to do with, and here we were without a penny. There was nothing money could do for every receipt gratify a vice—the madness of the miser; and the money could do everything for you and me, sweetheart. The thought of it made me say it was a shame the old man didn't think of us!"

"Well, after all, we couldn't expect him to," the girl said placidly, with the sober sense characteristic of her. "Of course, it would have been nice to have his fortune. But we must be patient, Hartley." She turned her face again to the east and looked out into the deeper purples of the distance, beholding again fair visions of the happiness to come.

EXPERT SCHMID SAYS HE IS NOT CITY EMPLOYEE

Paid Income Taxes Upon
All His Fees.

By OSCAR HEWITT.

Another spike was nailed yesterday in the expert's hope of escaping income taxes on more than $20,000 in fees collected from the city. This was supplied involuntarily by Richard G. Schmid, highly reputable architect.

He was a city expert on the Michigan boulevard improvement, in the Kirk Soap plant case in which Frank H. Mesce, Austin J. Lynch and Ernest H. Lyons were employed. These are three who now want to be relieved of paying income taxes on the alleged ground that they are city employees.

Mr. Schmid asserted yesterday that he was not a city employee, although he did more important work in this case for the city than either Mesce or Lynch. Furthermore he denied under oath on the witness stand that he was a city employee.

No Claim to Exemption. "Did you ever consider yourself a city employee?" was asked Mr. Schmid. "Never," he replied. "Did you claim any exemption of income taxes on fees received from the city?"

"Absolutely not." "Did you pay federal income taxes on every dollar you received from the city?"

"Most assuredly, I did." The records in the city controller's office show that Mr. Schmid was paid $16,061 in 1916 and $20,701.40 in 1917, a total of $36,762.40 for work on the Michigan avenue improvement.

Schmid Chief Expert. From the record in that case it appears that President Faherty of the board of local improvements learned more heavily on Mr. Schmid to win than upon his favorites, Lynch and Mesce. Schmid was the first and principal witness of the city on the Kirk buildings. He prepared the detailed plans of the Kirk buildings, not Mesce or Lynch. Mr. Schmid supplied them the basis for making their appraisal of the buildings.

Not only does the testimony of Mr. Schmid so show, but the testimony of Lynch admits that that representation is the truth.

"I prepared detailed plans of buildings, working with one or two draftsmen," testified Mr. Schmid as shown by the abstract of the record on page 338.

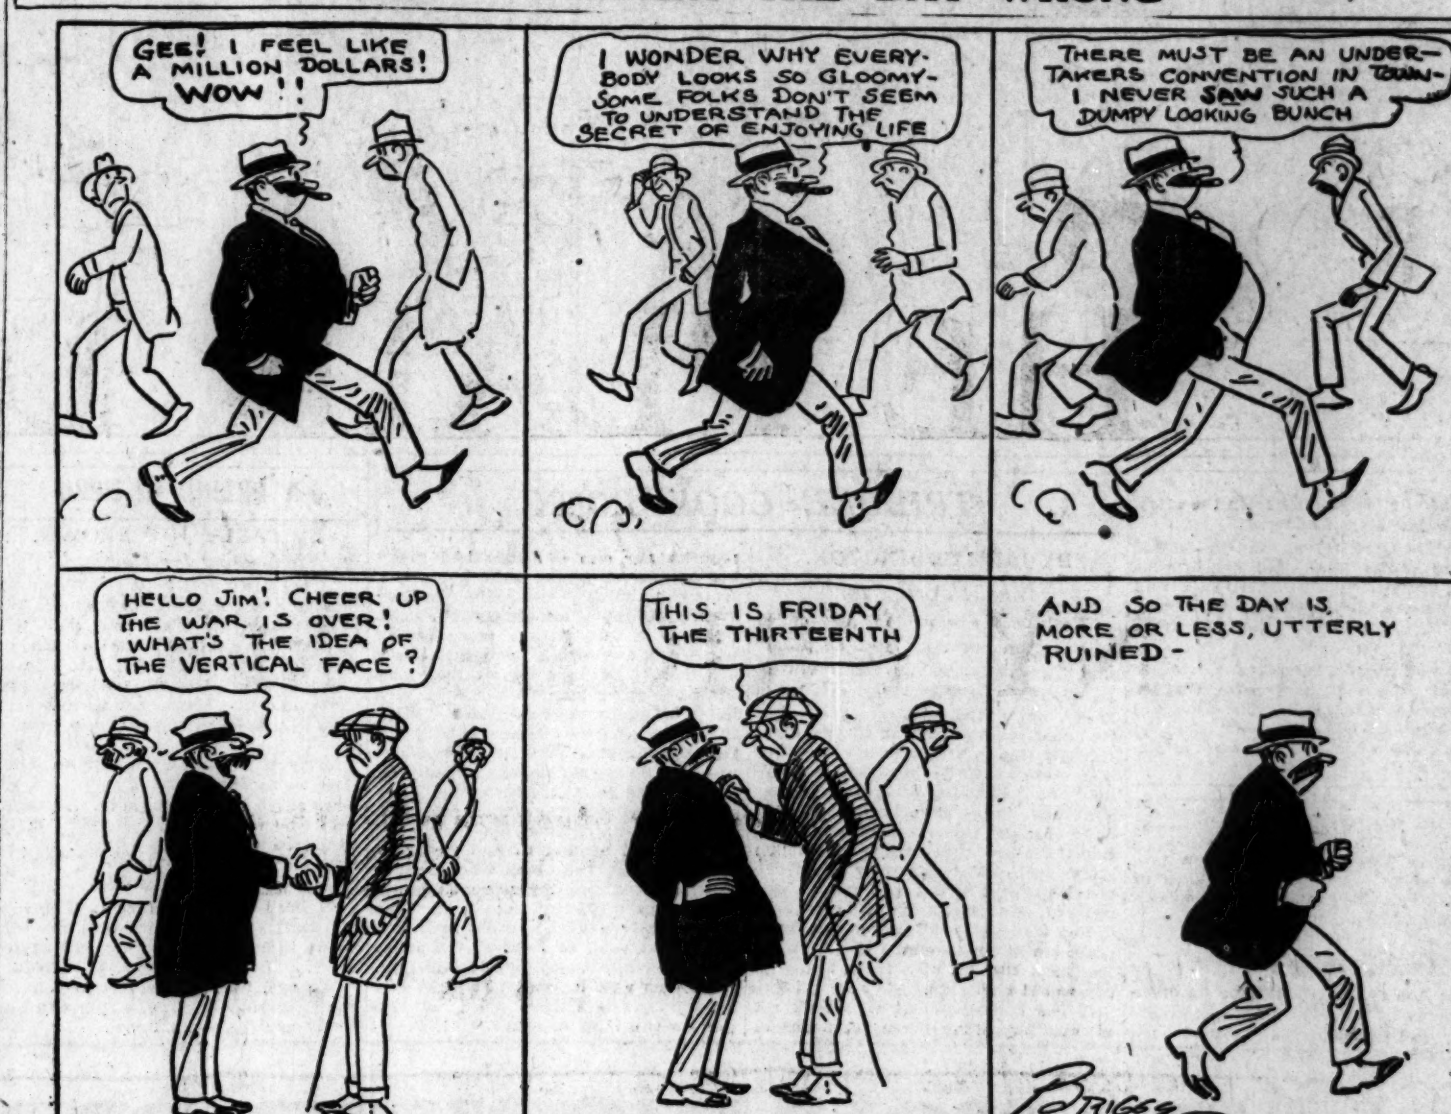

Supplied Their Data. "I gave copies of these drawings to Mesce, Lynch, Mesce, and Davidson, from which they took their draftsman," testified Mr. Schmid as shown by the abstract of the record on page 338.

Lynch acknowledged the correctness of the Schmid testimony on page 373 of the abstract of the record. "I made an examination of the premises and sized the situation up generally to start with, and had the architect's plans," Schmid said, "I made an examination of them and from that and an examination of the structure prepared an estimate."

Mesce claimed that he himself made plans of the building, but that he used Mr. Schmid's plans. He testified on page 423 of the abstract of the record that "about the time I got ready to estimate the Kirk plant I was told by the attorneys that they were getting Mr. Schmid, the architect, to make the building plans complete." His testimony continues: "So I waited for his plans and I checked them with mine. Our plans were about the same. The attorneys preferred that I should use the architect's plans, and I did so."

Not So Complete. On page 434 Mr. Mesce says: "They (his plans) are not as complete as Mr. Schmid's plans, but they are on that order."

DOUBT SMALL HAS PARDONED WALTER STEVENS

Action on Case Not Up to Him Yet.

Reports that Gov. Small had pardoned Walter Stevens, professional gunman, were questioned last night by a man in a position to know what he was talking about.

"That doesn't seem probable," said this man, "as the pardon board has not submitted its report to the governor. Commissioner Jenkins and Will Dunin, for sixty years a well known figure in Chicago for a short time Wednesday night and then returned to Springfield but it is understood here that they won't submit their report before Saturday and probably won't send it until the first of next week. It doesn't seem likely the governor would act before receiving their report."

The petition for the pardon is being handled by State Senator Richard J. Barr and State Representative Lee O'Neill Browne, staunch supporters of Gov. Small who have obtained many favors from him in the past.

SAVES PAL FROM POTTER'S FIELD; LANDS IN CELL

Saved at the last moment from a grave in the potter's field, "Jimmy" B. J. Stumm, the conservator, answered Mr. Kollman's statements with his theories of black roses, poisons and cure alls. Kollman, he said, had claimed to have discovered that carbolic acid neutralized the effect of alcohol and that a combination of the two would cure dog bites, blindness, and diabetes.

Overpowered two doctors and three nurses, Fred Doll, 42 years old, 112 East 6th street, yesterday escaped from the Auburn Park hospital, where he was confined as a mental patient. According to attendants Doll was released Wednesday night. Yesterday, after creating a disturbance, he started to leave the hospital. He hurled the doctors and nurses who tried to stop him out of the way and fled. Police were not to search for him and were told that he is dangerous. He was described as 5 feet 7 inches tall and weighing 160 pounds. He was clad only in the hospital uniform—white shirt and black coat and trousers.

Boy from Dwight, Ill., Killed by North Side Taxi. Raymond Taylor, 11 years old, of Dwight, Ill., was killed last night at 12th and Washington streets. He was run over by a taxicab driven by George Richley, 4709 Kenmore avenue. Raymond, who was visiting his cousin, Robert Puzan, 1356 Winnebago avenue, was on his way to the movies when the accident occurred.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

Beach Manor hotel, to be erected on the north shore between Wilmette and Kenilworth, will contain 182 four and five room apartments, instead of thirty-six apartments, and cost $1,500,000 instead of $500,000 as stated in The Tribune Oct. 11, according to Omar C. Harris, president of the corporation. The work on the structure will start Nov. 1. Bids will be taken Oct. 24.

REGULAR WITCH BREW FIGURES IN SANITY HEARING

Theories concerning the cultivation of black roses, the manufacture of deadly poisons from corns on human feet, and the concoction of a cure all for diseases made of a combination of carbolic acid and alcohol were intermingled with legal facts yesterday at a hearing in Kendall county concerning the insanity of Charles Kollman.

Kollman, 52 years old and a well to do farmer, came into court with a half dozen doctors and alienists to show he was not insane and no longer had been a conservator for his estate. The conservator was appointed at the request of his wife and daughter, who complained he was squandering his fortune on young women.

B. J. Stumm, the conservator, answered Mr. Kollman's statements with his theories of black roses, poisons and cure alls. Kollman, he said, had claimed to have discovered that carbolic acid neutralized the effect of alcohol and that a combination of the two would cure dog bites, blindness, and diabetes.

DRUGGIST CALLED IN LICENSE QUIZ FOUND A SUICIDE

Worry over the investigation into the issuance of state licenses, which recently resulted in the indictment of William Henry Harrison Miller, former director of the department of registration and education, is believed to have been responsible for the suicide of Charles Vleck, 5118 West 22d place, Cicero, a member of the state board of pharmacy.

Vleck was found dead on Tuesday in the rear of his drug store at 2227 South 52nd avenue, Cicero. At first it was believed he had died of heart trouble from which he had been a sufferer.

Big Quantity of Poison. A second post mortem examination yesterday by Dr. Edward Hutton, coroner's physician, disclosed, however, that the druggist had swallowed enough cyanide of potassium to kill several persons. The inquest has been continued until Oct. 24 by Coroner Hoffman.

Vleck's resignation was asked for by A. M. Shelton, director of registration and education, following the ouster of Miller, but received notice of his resignation to the board on Monday, the day before he died.

Trouble With Board. A friend of the family said Vleck recently had had some trouble with other members of the board and tendered his resignation and that he appeared to be worried when he received notice that his resignation was not accepted. A special committee from Springfield, it was said, was conducting a private investigation of pharmacy licenses for several days and Vleck had been asked to appear before this committee.

BRIDE, 18, TRIES TO DIE AFTER MANY QUARRELS

Despondent because of frequent quarrels with her husband, Mrs. Margaret Pursley, 18 years old and a bride of five weeks, slashed her wrists with a safety razor blade yesterday at Roosevelt road and Wisconsin avenue, Oak Park. A passing motorist, who saw the act, took her to the Oak Park hospital, where it was said her injuries were not serious.

D. M. Pursley, 27 years old, the husband, told the police that he and his bride had been living at the Oak Park Arms hotel, Washington boulevard and Oak Park avenue. They have had a number of quarrels since their marriage, and on one occasion Mrs. Pursley attempted to take her life. From the police station Pursley hurried to the hospital and attempted to effect a reconciliation with his wife, but when she refused to see him and said she wanted to die he left.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five
Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 each for questions which are accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send in your name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter, Chicago Tribune," Room 1111 East Logan street, South, Ill., was awarded $5 yesterday.

The Question. Are you in favor of America joining the league of nations, in view of recent happenings in the east?

Where Asked. Corner State and Randolph streets.

The Answers. Donald W. Johnson, 2420 Coyne street, clerk—Strictly hands off—that's the way I feel. If we have been in the league of nations, as first outlined by ex-President Wilson, we would already have been mixed up with their entanglements. As it is now, we can keep our hands off.

Miss W. I. Craft, 818 East 45th street, public school teacher—I would like to see America join the league of nations. As one of the greatest, if not the greatest, nation in the world, America should assume the responsibilities that go with that position. Our responsibility is not a community affair; it is a world-wide one.

Frank A. Kojane, 2426 South Clifton Park avenue, display manager—I don't favor the league of nations. As one of the greatest, if not the greatest, nation in the world, America should assume the responsibilities that go with that position. Our responsibility is not a community affair; it is a world-wide one.

Miss Irene Williams, 4828 Grand boulevard, artist—I can't recall any one saying that they were in favor of the league of nations. I don't know about the men, but I am sure our American women are opposed to joining the league. For one thing, the last war caused so much trouble and suffering that it has made us all afraid of getting into anything like it again.

Ed Hanbrich, 725 Market street, Kenosha, Wis., salesman—I believe we ought to keep out of European entanglements entirely. I believe the closer we adhere to George Washington's policy of keeping hands off European affairs the better off we will be. Recent eastern developments have made the arguments still stronger that we should keep out of Europe.

"OLD ED" HOWE BRINGS KANSAS RIGHT INTO LOOP

Editor and Wit Talks to Medill Students.

Part of Chicago's loop became Kansas last night for two hours. The occasion was the appearance of E. W. Howe—"Old Ed Howe"—founder of the Atchison Globe and now editor of E. W. Howe's Monthly. Mr. Howe gave a laboratory talk before the Medill School of Journalism at Lake and Dearborn streets. Dozens of former Kansans flocked to the school, laughed with the editor-philosopher as he told his small town stories, applauded him for several minutes after he had concluded his talk, and then crowded about him for a hand shaking and the swapping of Kansas reminiscences. The "way-back-wheners" were out in force.

Director H. F. Harrington of the school summed up the situation when he remarked: "It seems to me that Chicago tonight is a sort of a glorified version of Atchison, Kas."

Evening of Chuckles. It was an evening of chuckles. Strong men were overcome at some of the stories from Main street—all new to Chicago—and John D. Rockefeller giggled shamelessly. There was the story about the time Oscar Wilde went to Atchison to lecture.

"Wilde didn't give my paper any advertising, and I didn't like him any way. So I draped a donkey with banners on either side, and hired a small colored boy to lead the animal through the streets, and the banner read: 'I will lecture tonight at Corinthian hall.' And you must remember, Wilde, you could write a good play, he was no fit person to teach a boy's school."

His Distinguished Readers. A bit later Mr. Howe boasted shamelessly, but with a twinkle in his keen old eyes, of the distinguished subscribers to his magazine. And yet the most to abuse and correction of the reader, and if he doesn't like it we send his money back." He said his readers included George Horace Lorimer, Cyrus Curtis, and John D. Rockefeller. He and Rockefeller did me the honor of ordering a hundred extra copies, and I only charged him two cents a copy, although I might have asked $1,000."

To the kindliness of the plain people of the small towns was mingled with the stories: "Most of the valuable lessons I have learned have come from the plain people who neither write for the newspapers nor lecturers. And yet the most efficient teachers, because of their greater opportunities, are the newspaper men. Newspaper education is far much more common in this city than is generally believed. I am inclined to believe the reporter is greater than the editorial writer because he is nearer to the people, and one of the great accomplishments of the reporter was in connection with that affair at Herrin in your state. The editorial and special writers were right—after a time—on that affair, but the reporters were always right."

During the afternoon George Arliss, appearing in "The Green Goddess" at the Great Northern theater, pointed out to O. L. Hall's class in dramatic criticism at the school that "there is a tremendous opportunity for Chicago, with all its riches and all the people who wish to make it an art center, to launch a theatrical stock company that will attract the attention of the entire country."

"Nobody nowadays gets any practice in acting," he lamented. "It is the fault of the size of the country. Everybody wishes to see a play with the same actor in it. The stock company is a hobby of mine."

For dramatic critics he had a word of caution: "Be kind, just and true in your criticisms, and don't spoil a career just for the sake of being funny."

Armed Robbers in Stolen Car Hold Up Butcher Shops

Using a machine stolen from Samuel Jacobson, 2610 Iowa street, three holdup men, two with revolvers, last night robbed the butcher shops of Henry Krakow, 2410 West 15th street, and Louis Gordon, 3510 West 55th street. In the former they got $145 and in the latter $300 in checks and money was taken.

D. E. D. CONSTIPATION IS SO often associated with bad skin conditions and paves the way for so many physical derangements that, of course, it is peached against. It may be corrected by such comparatively simple measures as drinking a glass of cold water before breakfast and taking from six to eight glasses during the day, not more than one at a time; by a regular and hurried time for the function of elimination; by regular and wholesome food, including more fruit in the diet, the use of bran bread, bran biscuits, or bran cookies.

Evening Vest of Webbing Material.
NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—There is now on the market a white evening waistcoat of the same their need for comfortable neckwear will perhaps turn with interest to this new idea in vests. There is always room for something novel in any department of dress.

The waistcoat of this material may be acquired in any of the new approved designs, in plain and fancy fabric. The virtue of the article lies in the fact that it will not easily wrinkle or muss, and can be satisfactorily laundered without shrinking.

It is always a pleasure to see a well dressed man, especially one who uses not too obvious a method of attack. And it is usually the case that the simpler the effect the more attractive it is. I looked with approval at a couple of men in the subway the other day. One was dressed in a suit of Oxford gray, a lighter gray felt hat with a black band, and a white shirt. But it was just the addition of a four-in-hand tie which made the entire costume a success. The cravat was of a wide diagonal stripes, of gray blending in with the gray of the suit and a warm purple.

The other man had created a pleasing effect by means of a rather dark blue and white figured tie on a background of old white shirt worn with a dark brown suit, a brown soft hat, and tan oxfords.

Lydia Van Gilder and William Phillips Heard in Recitals BY EDWARD MOORE.

Two singers did their respective bits last night toward making the musical season an agreeable one. Lydia Van Gilder, contralto, gave a concert recital at Fine Arts Recital hall; William Phillips, baritone, another at Lyon & Healy hall.

Mrs. Van Gilder was for several seasons an industrious member of the Chicago Opera, though her name did not customarily appear upon the program. She has been endowed by nature with an uncommonly good voice; it is doubtful whether even she knows how good it is. Just now it is uneven; it demands opening up and straightening out until every tone is as full as its best ones. Under such circumstances it would be something to hear, especially as Miss Van Gilder would seem to have a rather scanty and sympathetic musical taste.

But if Miss Van Gilder's voice has not yet reached its complete power, Mr. Phillips, on the other hand, was so resonant and full toned as to be almost too much for the limited dimensions of the hall in which he appeared. He, too, has natural gifts of a high order, and it would have been interesting to hear him in a larger place. The fact of his great resonance may have been one reason why four French songs, though of different characters and tempos, sounded as though they were much of one mood.

BIRMINGHAM, Eng., Oct. 12.—The Associated Press.—Austrian government lead house of commons, in a speech to the Midland Club here today declared that government must be continued. His speech indicated that which Prime Minister Lloyd George will make his fight for in the next general election moved doubt as to whether Britain as a Unionist party support his chief.

Special significance attached speech inasmuch as the speaker himself was said to be the pronouncement to learn that he had before writing he is to deliver at Manchester.

Fears Labor Party Mr. Chamberlain took his view of the coalition on the basis that the country faced a national danger in the Labor labor obtained a majority, direct action would try the government, which was allowed to lead but would take instructions from cabinet.

The Unionist party leader that the country must not over for an experiment in construction to the subversive revolutionary party. He declared that the government's foreign policy had been heavily attacked by its opponents of the government. He declared that the policy had prevented the country in Asia Minor from spreading.

The coalition, Mr. Chamberlain brought the country many serious crises, at home and abroad. There had been when revolution was very near.

Cites "Direct Action" "These are days," he said, "when it is our duty to all the constitutional elements, of whatever class, to the defense of the constitution and the economic order which has made us all what we are, which our prosperous development depends."

Within the last few weeks of direct action have been again. Parliament no longer side—we are to be governed by political strike. This will be, except through our party, but if it happens at all, it will not be the moderate party who will prevail."

Britain Was Close to Referring to the near Chamberlain said there had been moments when danger against the British force imminent, when unanimity and action among the Greeks and Turks Great Britain had been neutral and ready to the results of the Greek also as ready as before Constantinople to the Turkish transfer of east as far as the Maritza river; but Great Britain mined to prevent the war brought into Europe, in Constantinople from the Smyrna and to preserve of the straits.

"I believe our policy has been successful," Mr. Chamberlain said, "but not help we received from the opposition."
